Steinway Pianos

Cost a Third to a Half More at the Factory than Any Other
—a Fact that we stand ready to prove.

The intrinsic worth of a Steinway would justify even a greater difference in price—because no other piano, whether it be a high-grade, medium or low-grade instrument, is sold at so small a percentage of profit as is the Steinway. Another fact that we will demonstrate to your entire satisfaction. The best musicians in the world, as well as many Crowned Heads of Europe, use and endorse Steinway pianos; another fact that every patriotic American should be proud of. Maybe you would like to exchange the piano you now have in part payment for a Steinway?

Los Angeles Daily Times

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1902.

Thrilling Episodes in the Career of Mrs. Fremont.

A WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

PERHAPS the Royal Standard of His Majesty, King Edward VII. might have been floating over California today. Los Angeles might have been His Majesty's city—New Liverpool, or New Manchester. New something else distinctly British, had it not been for the cool, audacious courage of the girl wife of an army lieutenant years and years ago, before the Gringo came. She is dead now. Congress never gave her a brevet title. Yet a year or so ago the President of the United States called in person at the home of Mrs. Fremont, and most graciously gave her the flower from his button-hole in token of his respect for her.

Mrs. Fremont was only a girl when this which followed happened. She had been married from the home of her father, Senator Benton, against the wishes of her family, to an ob-his heart marched on, ignorant of the fact that a bureau of officers at Washington were gnashing their teeth at his insubordination, and preparing the ingredients for a court-martial case. He marched on, and history has recorded the result as "one of the most marvelous and eventful expeditions of modern times—one to which the United States is indebted (among other things) for the present ownership of California, instead of seeing it a British possession."

There was a great stir at Washington over this incident. But Senator Benton was a factor to be reckoned with. When Fremont returned, he was received with all honor by the Secretary of War, who obtained for him the brevet rank of captain.

If you should read between the lines of Sen. Fremont's great career, you could still see this girl wife's splendid character. She was the ideal soldier's wife. His letters to her indicate that she was to him. They were not the goo-goo letters, such as Miss Lilclose the trying scene, Col. Fremont sent for the prisoner to receive his pardon in the presence of his family. When Pico entered the room the countenance of all present told him of his good fortune, and when it was confirmed by the word of the colonel, he was for a moment speechless. He had borne misfortune and disaster with firmness, but the news of his pardon was too much for him.

"Overcome with emotion he flung himself on the floor before Col. Fremont, clasped his knees convulsively, swore eternal fidelity to him and his good fortune, and when it was confirmed by the word of the colonel, he was for a moment speechless. He had borne misfortune and disaster with firmness, but the news of his pardon was too much for him.

The instructions left by Mrs. Fremont in regard to her funeral were taken from her study-deposit box at the bank yesterday morning by J. C. Drake, who has long been a most intimate friend of the Fremont family, and reached the next door to them on Twenty-eighth street.

The instructions were very short secure young army officer; his name was Fremont. He had no rank worth mentioning, and no particular prospects that anybody could discern, although they liked him well for his personal character. Fugitive objections to Miss Fremont were made in her teens then; but she had decided to marry Lieut. Fremont. She had the same determination and the same indomitable will that she had three years afterwards, when she calmly defied the War Department of the United States, and on her own responsibility, sent the greatest army officer of the time to a military expedition by taking him.

Then, as now, the "Great American Desert" platted out in burning wastes of sand. He told her, this girl, of his ambition to plunge away from the beaten trail and open up this great territory, 700 miles square, the equal of a European kingdom, and the most splendid country on earth; then it was a sealed book.

His good luck was with him. Hardly had the results of his first expedition been published when orders came for another to be made purely in the interests of science.

It must have been very hard for her, so young a wife, to see her young husband start out again when he was barely home from the first journey. She knew all too well of the perils of that march through the heart of the Indian country. He had only a small party, his one little mountain hewer, and rifles for defense. Yet she saw him so bravely.

He was still on the frontier of Missouri when orders came from the War Department to stop the expedition. The reason was alarming. It was said that Lieut. Fremont was turning a peaceable geographical expedition into a military expedition by taking arms.

The girl read this astonishing order; she had been asked by her husband to read his mail as it came. This girl, with an army woman's full knowledge of the sacredness of the order, coolly blocked the great War Department. She sent the rest of the letters on to him, but she kept the orders home, Fremont, in the innocence of and she was written upon a half-sheet of note paper, and were dated as far back as 1838.

Mrs. Fremont desired to be cremated at Roseadale Cemetery, and wished her remains to be placed in the hands of the Rev. Dr. Le Moyne Willis to take charge of the simple funeral service at the church.

The funeral service was held at the church, with the younger members of old family friends to act as pallbearers, mentioning the following names: Dr. Le Moyne Willis, Edward H. Seymour, Beverance, Roy Jones of Santa Monica, and physician, Dr. C. B. Dickson.

Mrs. Fremont completed the list, as follows: J. E. Elliot, president of the First National Bank; J. C. Drake, formerly in the naval service, and Herman Silver.

The rites of the Episcopal Church will be conducted by Rev. Charles W. Naumann, at 10:30 o'clock this morning, at Christ Church, on the corner of Pico and Flower streets, after which the remains will be taken to Roseadale Cemetery in charge of Dr. Le Moyne Willis.

Many friends have called upon the bereaved daughter, and have been very fragrant and beautiful roses were sent by Mrs. James A. Garfield yesterday afternoon from her winter home in Pasadena.

WANTED IN JOLIE.

Detectives Capture Alleged Fugitive at Telegraphic Request of an Illinois Chief of Police.

George Taylor, a contracting carpenter, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Aulse and Hawley, and he and his wife were leaving the depot. He is said to be a fugitive from justice, the arrest having been made at the telegraphic request of Chief of Police Phillips of Joliet, Ill.

Several days ago a telegram was received by Chief Elton from Joliet, asking the officers here to arrest Taylor by false pretenses, but the particulars were not given. Later, another message was received, giving a description of the man wanted. The officers found the man as he was stepping out of the train. He admitted his identity, but asserted that he will have no difficulty in establishing his innocence. The officers accompanied him to the Natick House, where his wife was provided for, and Taylor was then taken to the City Jail, where he will be held until the Joliet officials can be communicated with.

BACKED WATER.

Vernon Residents Get the Pipes Laid, and Then Throw Down the Water Board, Refusing to Connect.

A lot of people out in the Vernon district are trying to "crawl" on the water board.

They clamored for water and petitioned the board to lay the pipes, agreeing to become consumers. As soon as it was possible to do so, the pipes were laid, but a dozen or more of these who signed the agreement, have refused to connect. When remonstrated with, they said:

"Our windmills are doing very well now and we don't need the water."

Had they been present at the meeting of the water board yesterday, they would not have felt complimented by the talk concerning their breach of faith. If they ever again expect to plea for their rights, the best turn they can do themselves just now, is to screw their pipes into the city water mains as soon as possible.

Two Men Drowned.

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 29.—Eugene Chase and Mathew Mattson were drowned in the Big River, Mendocino county, while returning from Mendocino City, where they had spent Christmas.

The two men were on a small boat, which was overturned in the rapids. The bodies were recovered. Search is still being made for Mattson's gun.

BAD SMASH ON SANTA FE.

Overland Collides With a Light Engine.

Engineer Hayward is Killed and Fireman Hurt.

Accident on Side Track at Siam—Few Passengers Little Injured.

Santa Fe overland train, No. 7, due in Los Angeles at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, crashed into a light engine at Siam, about 4 o'clock a.m., instantly killing Engineer Charles Hayward and seriously injuring Fireman M. L. Shackleford of the overland, to Mrs. V. H. Inman and one or two other passengers.

The three injured persons named were brought to Los Angeles on the belated train, which arrived at La Grande station at 7:15 o'clock last evening, and were taken to the Sisters' Hospital.

Fireman Shackleford's injuries were less severe. He was able to sit up when the train arrived, and seemed to be suffering principally from bruised foot and arm and slight bruises about the eyes.

Mrs. Inman, who is the wife of V. H. Inman, who lives at No. 804 East Third street, was in a closed car at the time of the accident. She was thrown violently against the wall by the sudden stopping of the train, and sustained injuries about the hips and stomach. She was on her way from Indianapolis to join her husband, who had left her young baby in a seat of the chair car.

When the train stopped, the child rolled to the floor, but was not injured.

The light engine, in charge of Engineer Hayward and Fireman Arkille, had left Needles to meet the east-bound train, and was on its way to a steep grade, and had taken the side track at Siam, a siding between Needles and the westbound overland, No. 7, was to pass Hayward's engine at that point, and was having at 4 o'clock when Siam was reached, instead of keeping to the main track, crossed the light engine, demolishing both locomotives and planing cars.

The cause of the accident is ascribed to a defective switch or to the failure of Fireman Arkille to set the switch for the main track after the light engine had taken the siding.

The dead and injured men resided at Needles. Hayward's father, who formerly conducted a salooning house at No. 30 West Seventh street in this city, left yesterday for Needles on receipt of news of the death of his son.

PASSENGER'S ACCOUNT.

Among the passengers on the Santa Fe overland was J. B. Eldridge, a mining engineer of yesterday's collision, however, he is suffering slightly from the effects of being driven like a cattle head first against the end of the berth he was in.

"Fandemonium was let loose," said Mr. Eldridge last night at the Nadeau, in discussing the collision, "especially in the chair car, which was crowded with Italians going to Bakersfield. I was in the Pullman just behind this one, and had been awake about half an hour before the crash came. The train must have been running forty miles an hour."

"When they struck my head was driven into the end of the berth, but I did not think of the crash at the time. In our car there was not so much confusion as might have been expected."

Every one got up and dressed quickly and I was one of the first out. When silence fell after the noise of the crashing trains there were terrible screams from the chair car, and I supposed that there were at least a dozen of the occupants killed or injured.

"In making my way to the front of the train I saw in the darkness that nearly every one of the windows was crowded with frightened men and women. They shrieked and struggled savagely, but it was only for a few minutes."

"When I got forward the train crew were there, and the engineer of our train was just picking himself up from the ground, where he had leaped after reversing his engine. That engineer, by the way, really saved the situation by his presence of mind."

"The engines were telescoped, and had been hammered and welded by one blow into a great mass of demolished steel and iron. The oil tanks on both of the engines were burst open, but, fortunately, there was no inflammable material near with which the fire might come into contact."

"The engineer of the light engine was lying back in the cab dead, and the fireman was moaning. They were taken out, and it was seen at once that the engineer was past all help. The fireman was made as comfortable as possible, and also other passengers who had received slight injuries."

"A work train, which was on the siding, presented a peculiar sight. It had been driven back several feet by the impact, and the water car had been thrown at right angles to the track. Several of the forward cars, which received the weight of the overland train, had been forced from the track and presented a strange appearance."

Mr. Eldridge was enduring a very stiff neck last night, but was confident that the injury was only slight.

Two Men Drowned.

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 29.—Eugene Chase and Mathew Mattson were drowned in the Big River, Mendocino county, while returning from Mendocino City, where they had spent Christmas.

The two men were on a small boat, which was overturned in the rapids. The bodies were recovered. Search is still being made for Mattson's gun.

Boy Shot Himself.

STOCKTON, Dec. 29.—L. C. Thom of this city, received a dispatch today from Rayon and Mariposa counties, effect that his sixteen-year-old son, Owen, had accidentally shot himself and died in a hospital in Youngstown, Pa., where he had spent Christmas.

It is in a house in Youngstown that the father's copper mine in that county, and the two were prepared to shoot. Particulars of the accident were not given.

NEW BOULEVARD COMING RIGHT ALONG.

MONEY IS READY FOR OPENING VERNON AVENUE.

Contract for Grading from Wilshire Boulevard to Temple Street Let—Some Important Sales of Real Estate Closed Up Yesterday.

The amount necessary to secure the grading of Vernon avenue between Wilshire boulevard and Temple street has been secured. The sum of $100,000 has been subscribed by private parties, and a similar sum will be appropriated by the Board of Supervisors. Vernon avenue between Wilshire boulevard and Third street is yet unopened, but deeds for the land necessary to open the street will be made by the owners to the city and to the county as soon as the street work is done. From Third to Temple street the avenue is already opened, but the contracts for street work will provide for the making of a uniform grade from Wilshire boulevard to Temple street. The contract was signed by Milo Baker, as trustee for the subscribers, by the Board of Supervisors, for the county, and by Bright, Crandall & Co., as contractors. The work here cost $100,000, and is to be completed within sixty working days from December 18. This is preliminary to the opening of the boulevard between this city and the sixteen or more miles of boulevard driveways at Hollywood. This is an improvement that is certainly needed, and one that will undoubtedly be of vast importance to the city.

A GOODLY SALE.

Mrs. Adele Lauth has sold to P. Williams of Grand Rapids, Mich., and associates, through the agency of J. A. Hunterberger, a lot 36x125 feet to the south of the intersection of the corner of Seventh and Hill streets, a twenty-room two-story frame lodging-house and a seven-room cottage, consideration named, $15,000.

P. C. Menell has sold to a local investor, a lot 36x125 feet west of Hill street, with a cottage worth perhaps $2500; consideration named, $14,000.

STILL THEY COME.

Among the deeds placed on record within the past few days is one by which Mrs. Ruth Bryan Plateau conveyed to Isiah W. Holliman, a part, block 3 of Ord's survey, being 35x225 feet on the east side of Spring street, 15x125 feet fourth of section, consideration named, $17,500.

This is at the rate of a little less than $1754 per front foot.

Charles D. City has purchased of P. M. Daniel a lot 35x125 feet on the south side of Turner street, 125 feet west of Central avenue, and five lots, altering 50x230 feet each, on the west side of Central avenue, between Turner and First streets, the ten tracts, consideration named, $17,500.

This is at the rate of $100 per front foot.

Scott & Alexander conveyed to Sarah E. Poyer, lot 7, Bottiller tract, 24x175 feet, fronting on the west side of Adams street, with buildings of small value as compared with frontage, consideration named, $15,000.

Thomas Bucknall of J. S. Rogers, 26x125 feet east side Lot 33, east of Adams street, with substantial frontage, consideration named, $2500.

Brave Old Gogan.

Under the general head of superlatives should come the name of Maxine Gogan, who died at Coacoma, N. H., recently, at the age of 108 years and 7 months. His grandfather fought with Montcalm on the Plains of Abraham, and when the city surrendered to Wolfe landed a small schooner with plate and jewels, along with a few others set sail for France.

The schooner was wrecked off the coast of Nova Scotia, and he was picked up by a fisherman, who carried him to the shore, carrying on his back the Count d'Hauterive, to whom he acted as body servant until the nobleman's death. In 1768, before he died,

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL GOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

No disturbance marked the closing session of the present Council yesterday. The public service ordinance was not presented.

The City Fathers shed no tears over the prospect of retiring to private life.

The franchise application of E. D. Goode of Glendale was denied. Excellent street-improvement contracts were before the Council.

The official Council proceedings, published by authority, will be found elsewhere on this page.

Mrs. Zolbert dismissed her legal proceedings to recover her baby. John E. West sued a street-railway company for damages.

An old soldier in the Police Court was not afraid of the lawyers.

AT THE CITY HALL. POOLROOM ORDINANCE IGNORED BY COUNCIL.

DOVE OF PEACE HOVERS OVER THE LAST SESSION.

City Fathers not Sorry to Be Believed of Political Worry—Much Miscellaneous Business Disposed of With Dispatch—Franchise Application Denied.

After all, it was not such a very sad affair yesterday—the last business session of the present City Council.

There were no tears; signs and lamentations were not the order of the day.

By mutual consent all matters which threatened to provoke acrimonious discussion were referred to the incoming legislators, who are presumed to be valiant in the full vigor of their political youth.

The poolroom ordinance was one of these. It was carelessly dropped by the wayside when the Committee on Legislation made its report. All the fathers, burning desire of the City Fathers to save young men from the snares of the poolrooms had been snuffed out, as was the desire of the incoming legislators, who are presumed to be valiant in the full vigor of their political youth.

ADOPTED BY THE COUNCIL YESTERDAY IS AN APPLICATION.

"Whereas, the voters of this city have adopted a series of amendments to the city charter by majorities ranging from 459 to 10,649, and whereas, action by the Council is required under the State Constitution to make these amendments effective, and whereas, changes in the city government are presently to go into effect, it is desirable that the amendments be made as soon as possible, therefore be it Resolved, That the Council of the City of Los Angeles, do hereby pass the amendments to the city charter, and that they be adopted in accordance with the will of the people."

STREET WORK. RUSH OF CONTRACTS. Property owners who find fault because it takes some time to put through the municipal red-tape that precedes street improvement, should have heard the eighty-four proposals to improve streets read in the Council chamber yesterday morning. There were eighty-four proposals to improve streets, and nearly five bidders appeared to contest each contract.

The contract for the improvement of Broadway from Sixth street to the intersection of the Broadway-Gilmore-Wilton Company yesterday at a rate of $1.50 per lineal foot. The total amount of the bid is $110,000. The bid was made by the Gilmore-Wilton Company.

THE OIL INDUSTRY

STANDARD NOT DOING BUSINESS IN TEXAS.

DENIES CONTROL OF BEAUMONT AND JENNINGS.

Production of Southern Districts on Oil Basis—Indiana Shows Falling Off in Output—Reported Discoveries Near Lompoc—Fullerton Notes.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) An official denial was made today of the report from New Orleans that the Standard Oil Company has obtained control of the oil Beaumont, oil field in Texas and the Jennings field in Louisiana.

"The Standard Oil Company is not doing business in Texas," said a representative of the company today. "Reports to that effect are entirely untrue. A sufficient supply of oil in the fields at the present time controlled by the company to meet all demands which may be made upon it. So far as I know, negotiations for an interest in the Texas oil fields have not even been opened by this company."

It was reported some time ago that the production of many wells in the Beaumont field had been stopped, and that the company had been compelled to draw 1,000,000 barrels from its reserve supply in the last six months. Officials of the company would not discuss this report today, nor commit themselves on the possibility of an extension of the company's control in Texas fields in the near future.

PRODUCTION ON OIL BASIS. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) BEAUMONT (Tex.), Dec. 2.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The oil production here is on a solid and fair basis. Beaumont has passed the gusher stage. The oil production is on a steady business condition. Beaumont wells are good producers, with pumping. The Louisiana field is being constantly extended, and several new gushers of great promise are being discovered in the area.

A refinery has been recently completed at Jennings, and one is being constructed at Welch. There is a difference in the oil produced in Louisiana from that of the Beaumont field. While oil strikes at this vicinity are not as numerous as in the past, the production of new wells was 510 barrels per day, against 500 in the month previous.

INDIANA SHOWS DECLINE. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 2.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The monthly report of oil operations in the Indiana field for December is a slight decline in production in the price of crude oil. There were completed during the month 116 wells, and the production of new wells was 510 barrels per day, against 500 in the month previous.

LOMPOC EXCITED. REPORTED OIL FIND CAUSES IT. Lompoc is greatly excited over rumors of oil strikes at this vicinity, although nothing definite is known. It is believed by many that a good find has been made by one of the two explorers drilling in the corner of Santa Barbara county.

The Union Oil Company, owner of the Purisima ranch, shut down drilling operations after reaching a depth of 200 feet. Whether or not the company succeeded in striking oil is not known, but it is known that the company has been making efforts to obtain possession of more land in this field.

Rumor has it that the company recently acquired the Hoover ranch, near Santa Rita, and has options on other prospective oil-bearing lands.

The Lompoc Oil Company has also suspended operations. Casing has been pulled from the hole on various premises, and it would not surprise many if it has also succeeded in tapping oil-bearing sands.

PULLERTON FIELD NOTES. A bankhouse on the Columbia Oil Company's lease in the Pullerton field was destroyed by fire recently. Arrangements are being made to rebuild at once.

The Iowa Oil Company, which recently installed a pumpjack in the Pullerton field, is drilling a well to test the field.

Developments of the Rob Roy Company are watched with considerable interest. The company is drilling a well 200 feet deep, and excellent indications of oil have been found. If a strike is made in that part of the field, a considerable amount of oil will be produced.

Police Court Briefs. F. Floyd, who was arrested on a charge of burglary, was charged, convicted and sentenced in about three minutes. Yesterday a man named "Floyd" was charged with a crime, and he was sentenced to a term of years.

The defendants deny all allegations of unfair dealing, and say they treated the plaintiff justly.

CANT FIND BABY. MRS. GORDON MISSING. Mrs. Emma Gordon's quest for her baby has failed.

Mrs. Emma Gordon, the former manager of the Ransom Home, who gave the illegitimate child away to some one, cannot be found. Mrs. Gordon's lawyer was obliged to dismiss the habeas corpus proceedings.

The matter will shortly be brought to the attention of the Supreme Court.
